

Early Years Foundation Stage Policy

Reviewed March 2022

“Every child deserves the best possible start in life and the support that enables them to fulfil their potential. Children develop quickly in the early years and a child’s experiences between birth and age five have a major impact on their future life chances. A secure, safe and happy childhood is important in its own right. Good parenting and high quality early learning together provide the foundation children need to make the most of their abilities and talents as they grow up.”

Statutory Guidance for the Early Years Foundation Stage, 2021

At New Brighton Primary School we greatly value the importance of the Early Years Foundation Stage (EYFS) in providing a secure foundation for future learning and development and we understand our responsibilities in ensuring that children learn and develop well and are kept healthy and safe.

3. Learning and development

In partnership with parents, the school will promote the learning and development of children to ensure they are ready for the next stage of education.

The Educational Programmes of the EYFS

Provision and practice within the early years will be centred around the requirements of the DfE's 'Statutory framework for the early years foundation stage'.

The Educational Programmes in the EYFS underpin the curriculum that will be taught. This will be based on observations of children's needs, interests and stages of development. Teaching will be planned to reflect these interests and individual circumstances through the educational framework in order to provide each child with a challenging and enjoyable experience.

The EYFS framework outlines the seven areas of learning and development that are the Education Programmes of the 'Statutory framework for the early years foundation stage'. These are split into two interconnected sections – Prime and Specific:

The 'Prime' areas of learning and development are:

- Communication and language
 - Listening, attention and understanding
 - Speaking
- Physical development
 - Gross motor skills
 - Fine motor skills
- Personal, social and emotional development
 - Self-regulation
 - Managing self
 - Building relationships

The 'Specific' areas of learning and development are:

- Literacy
 - Comprehension

- Word reading
 - Writing
- Mathematics
 - Numbers
 - Numerical patterns
- Understanding the world
 - Past and present
 - People, culture and communities
 - The natural world
- Expressive arts and design
 - Creating with materials
 - Being imaginative and expressive

In organising and implementing educational programmes, staff at New Brighton Primary School will ensure that a broad range of activities and experiences are planned, having regard to the three characteristics of effective teaching and learning in the EYFS:

- Playing and exploring – children investigate and experience things.
- Active learning – children concentrate, keep on trying if they encounter difficulties and enjoy their achievements.
- Creating and thinking critically – children have and develop their own ideas, make links between ideas, and develop strategies for doing things.

Curriculum planning

For children to make progress in learning, appropriate planning is important. When planning the curriculum, the school will ensure that:

- Diversity and inclusion are at the heart of planning, ensuring provision enables every child access to engaging and challenging learning.
- Staff observations and ongoing formative assessments are used to inform planning and create an accurate and informed picture of each child.
- When planning teaching, it considers:
 - The stages of children’s development.
 - Children’s individual needs and interests.
 - The learning environment, inside and outside.
- Staff develop knowledge of children and their families and use this information to inform practice and provision.
- There are sufficient amounts of time and resources available for staff to engage in planning and assessment activities.

- Curriculum plans are flexible working documents which will be adapted and changed to respond to the needs and interests of children

4. Assessment

Assessment plays an important part in helping the school to recognise children's progress, understand their needs, plan activities, and assess the need for support.

In line with statutory requirements, the school will undertake a summative assessment of each child's development at certain stages. These are:

- Reception Baseline Assessment – a short assessment which is taken within the first six weeks of a child starting Reception, regardless of what time of the year this occurs.
- The EYFS Profile – a comprehensive assessment completed at the end of the EYFS to provide a well-rounded picture of a child's knowledge, understanding and abilities, attainment against the early learning goals (ELGs), and their readiness for Year 1.

Ongoing formative assessments will be used to assess the day-to-day learning and development of children in the EYFS. Practitioners will interact and observe children to understand their achievements, interests and learning needs, and will use this information to shape learning experiences for each child.

Parents will be kept up-to-date with their child's progress and development, and the early years leader and school SENDCO will address any learning and development needs in partnership with parents.

When undertaking assessment activities, all staff members will have due regard to the 'Early Years Foundation Stage Profile Handbook and Assessment and Reporting Arrangements (ARA) for that year, and any Local Authority advice where appropriate.

5. The learning environment

At New Brighton Primary School we recognise that the physical and emotional environment play an important role in supporting, enabling and extending pupils' learning and development.

A safe and stimulating environment will be provided. One that values active learning, exploration and play, and one where children feel free to create, make links and develop critical thinking skills.

Learning environments within the school will be well-organised and suitable for group, individual and whole-class learning, with interactive displays and easily accessible resources utilised to encourage independence.

Across each day, children will have access to indoor and outdoor learning environments. Staff will plan provision to ensure that there are a range of learning opportunities available, and that the learning opportunities available in the outdoor environment build on and develop those inside

Independent learning will be encouraged through planned continuous provision where children can make their own selection from a variety of resourced areas, including but not limited to:

- Role play, Small World, Reading, Creative, Construction, Sensory, Mark-making, Maths, STEM & technology, Outdoors.

Staff support children to navigate and access the learning environment, intervening and interacting where necessary to ensure that all learning opportunities and teaching moments are captured and capitalised upon.

Appropriate and stimulating educational visits and visitors, from both within and outside of the local community, are arranged to further expand children's learning experiences.

The school values the importance of positive relationships. To support this, staff are responsible for:

- Knowing and understanding the families, cultures and what they bring (also known as cultural capital).
- Ensuring they interact and empathise with children.
- Supporting children's emotions.
- Ensuring children feel valued and confident to try new things.

The expectations of behaviour are consistent throughout the different learning areas and children are supported to regulate their emotions through co-regulation and the knowledge of their key person.

6. Parental engagement

At New Brighton Primary School, we believe that the EYFS cannot function without the enduring support of parents and that children benefit from a strong partnership between staff and parents.

To capitalise on children's school and home experiences, the school is committed to working closely with parents and creating an ongoing dialogue. The school asks that parents support the school by:

- Ensuring that their child regularly attends school, giving reasons for any absences.
- Informing the school of any concerns or problems which may affect their child.
- Actively engaging in the school community.
- Meeting with the teachers where possible
- Enabling their child to be as appropriately dressed as possible with regard to the School Uniform Policy – parents should talk to their child's class teacher if this is a problem so that the school can support this.
- Enabling their child's knowledge and understanding through sharing the ideas sent from school.
- Encouraging their child's development and progress.

The school will support parents by:

- Sharing all school policies and procedures as required or requested, including the school's privacy notice.
- Committing to the wellbeing of all families and children.
- Informing them how the school works with children and what teaching and learning is provided.
- The daily routine and the activities offered in the early years and how parents can support their child's learning at home.
- Explaining how support for children with additional needs is provided.
- Providing details of how the school's snack and lunch menus are developed, including how the school caters for allergies and dietary preferences.
- Providing staffing details, including the name of the child's key person and an explanation of this role.
- Providing a telephone number for parents to contact in an emergency.

The school provides support, advice and workshops for parents, with the aim of developing a two-way understanding so that the school can use children's home cultures and backgrounds to enrich and underpin teaching.

Parents are kept up-to-date through the use of conversations, the school website, texts, newsletters, notice boards.

Parents are invited to termly parents' evenings; however, the school has an open-door policy and parents are very welcome to talk to teachers at the start and end of the school day.

The school has a Complaints Procedures Policy in place which is shared with parents – written records are kept of all complaints the school receives.

7. Inclusion

All children are valued as individuals, irrespective of any protected characteristics, in line with the Equality Act 2010. The 'Equal Opportunities Policy: Pupils' ensures that the needs of all children are met, regardless of their protected characteristics.

The EYFS curriculum is planned in order to meet the needs of the individual child and support them at their own pace.

The EYFS Special Educational Needs and Disabilities (SEND) Policy ensures all children receive the support they need and are given the best learning experience possible. SEND in the EYFS setting will be monitored and managed by the school SENCO.

8. Transition

The school understands the importance of the transition process and, therefore, adapts its practices to support children settling into their new environment. The school's transition action plan is reviewed collaboratively by staff members on an annual basis.

Internal transition is a carefully planned process that focuses on a child's key relationships.

Children are supported by their key person during transition periods. The school offers home visits for children who are new to Foundation 1 and in class sessions for both new Foundation 1 and new Foundation 2 children during the Summer term prior to them arriving. New to F2 children also have an initial visit from staff when they are at their current pre-school settings, allowing the children to meet their new teachers whilst feeling secure in their current environment.

Transition meetings between early years staff and Year 1 staff are held during the Summer term. Early years staff provide the relevant Year 1 teachers with information regarding children, allowing them to accurately plan effective learning during Year 1.

The early years leader, key person and Year 1 teacher will meet to discuss and expand on the information presented in children's EYFS profiles.

The following process is in place to ensure children's successful transition to Year 1:

- Parents are provided with information to ensure they know about school procedures and allocation of classes, and to voice any concerns.
- Children are invited to spend time in their Year 1 class.

- In the Summer term, early years staff and Year 1 staff will meet to discuss each child's development in order to support a smooth transition to Year 1.

9. Monitoring and review

The quality of teaching is continuously monitored, and any concerns are raised with the early years leader.

This policy is reviewed by the early years leader, headteacher and governing board on a regular basis. The next scheduled review date of this policy is July 2024.

Any changes to this policy are communicated to parents and staff members, who can request a copy of the policy from the school office.
